

About Summation Research:

Summation Research, Inc. (SRI) is an engineering and manufacturing company that for over 15 years has provided high performance data acquisition, telemetry, and communication products and systems to defense, government and commercial markets worldwide. Located in Melbourne, Florida, SRI's products address fixed and mobile applications requiring the gathering, processing, and communication of vital test and operational data across a street, to an aircraft, or to orbiting satellites. The Company also provides board-level embedded communication solutions and custom development expertise addressing challenging requirements for OEM equipment providers and system integrators. Learn more about SRI at www.summationresearch.com or by calling (321) 254-2580.

Contact Information:

Summation Research, Inc.
Todd Gross
Director of Marketing
Tel: (321) 254-2580
grosst@summationresearch.com

SRI's PressLink includes electronic copies of this release, company information and past press releases, and both web and high-resolution images.

Access PressLink online at <http://www.summationresearch.com/presslink>.

###